TRAINING RECORD CPR Training 04th May, 2017 Participants - 19

Following point discussed in the training

- Understanding the Chain of Survival: The chain of survival is a concept that is taught in CPR training and is the sequence of steps that need to be taken in order for someone to have the best chance of surviving a cardiac arrest. The chain of survival includes early access to Emergency Medical Services, early CPR, early defibrillation, and early advanced care.
- Recognizing Signs of Cardiac Arrest: The signs of cardiac arrest include sudden collapse, no pulse, and no breathing. It is important to be able to recognize the signs of cardiac arrest in order to respond quickly and appropriately.
- Performing CPR: CPR stands for cardiopulmonary resuscitation and is a lifesaving technique that involves chest compressions and rescue breaths. It is important to be able to perform CPR correctly and confidently in order to increase the chance of survival.
- 4. Using an AED: An AED, or automated external defibrillator, is a medical device that can be used to restart a person's heart in the event of cardiac arrest. It is important for those trained in CPR to understand how to use an AED in order to provide the best chance of survival.
